Relic of a Tragedy.

What is undoubtedly a knife which figured in a tragedy that stirred Kentucky from center to circumference, some 20 years ago, is in the possession of Mr. B. H. Perkins, of this city. The knife was used by Col. William Cassius Goodloe in the fatal encounter in the post office at Lexington in November, 1889, in which Col. Armistead Miller Swope was stabbed to death, and Col. Goodloe died a few hours later from the effects of a wound from a pistol shot fired by Col. Swope. The knife was picked up from the floor of the postoffice by one of the clerks in the office, and covered with blood, was wrapped in a newspaper.

J. H. Swope, a brother of Colonel Swope, went to Lexington immediately on receipt of the news of the tragedy, to look after the remains, and for some reason the knife was turned over to him. Mr. Perkins was conducting a hotel in Danville at the time, and Mr. Swope brought the body to his house, on the way to Lincoln county for interment, and stopped with Mr. Perkins.

The knife was handed over to Mr. Perkins' clerk to be kept over night, and was placed in the office safe. In the excitement incident to the occasion, the knife was forgotten, and remained in the safe wrapped in the bloody paper, about a year. Mr. Perkins sold his hotel to A. Tribble, and in cleaning out his safe, incident to turning over the business, he found it there, and still had it in his possession. The knife has a buckhorn handle and a spring on the back to prevent it from closing when in use. When opened it is a fraction over 8 inches in length, the blade, which has a razor edge, being a fraction over 3½ inches in length. It has 1 X L on the blade, and was made by George Wostenholm, Sheffield, England.

Colonel Goodloe was a member of one of the most prominent families in Central Kentucky, and stood high in the councils of the Republican party in Kentucky. Col. Swope was born and reared in Lincoln county where he was widely connected. He was a splendid specimen of intellectual and physical manhood. He held the office of Internal Revenue Collector, in the Lexington district for a number of years. The trouble grew out of political jealousies, and culminated in the terrible tragedy. —Middlesboro News-Record.

"Wherever I was invited in America, always there was a crowd. Everybody seemed to be present."

"Everybody and his wife!"

"No, another peculiar thing—everybody and her husband." —Puck.

The Senate by a vote of 35 to 41 declined to reduce by one-quarter of a cent a pound the duty on pig lead. By a viva voce vote the Senate adopted the rate of 2½ cents a pound as recommended by the committee.

In a special message to Congress President Taft recommends legislation at the extra session of Congress to amend the Foraker act under which the territory is governed. The President says: "A situation of unusual gravity" exists through the failure of the assembly to pass the appropriation bills and charges that the Porto Ricans have forgotten the generosity of the United States and have too much political power. He concludes that the right to make appropriations should be taken away.

THE Courier-Journal covers a multitude of faults when it announces editorially that it will not only refuse to support Senator McNutt but will oppose any ticket on which his name may appear. McNutt is one of the skunks, who after being elected by democrats, voted for Hon. W. O. Bradley for Senator.

The citizens of Louisville needn't go to see Barnum & Bailey this year—they can just watch the Republican primary convention and save their money. —Frankfort Journal.

The Penigwassett House, one of the largest hotels in the White Mountains, N. H., was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL says it will not support Senator McNutt because Senator McNutt would not support the democratic nominee for the United States Senate, but voted for a straight out republican, thereby separating himself from the democratic party. This is enough to make a canine cachetate. Mr. Watterson must have gone daft or seen the handwriting on the wall that saloon keepers and those who represent their interests must walk the plank. It was a matter not only of general rumor, but of plain fact that the Courier-Journal and its emissaries not only beat Beckham for the Senate but gloried in their shame, that McNutt, Charlton and Mueller were simply tools of Boss Vreeland, who controls the policy of the Courier-Journal, whether Mr. Watterson knew it or not. This same Vreeland maintained headquarters at Frankfort during all the memorable contest and was regarded as Senator Bradley's chief lieutenant, working night and day to defeat the Democratic nominee. Having secured McNutt to aid in the accomplishment of its design, it is base ingratitude for the Courier-Journal to desert him now and shows that there are exceptions to the rule of honor among theives. Had they not been backed by the Courier-Journal, its managing editor and local correspondents, it is doubtful that the three Louisville men would have dared to turn down a democratic nominee. Mr. Watterson can not fool some of the people some of the time by his belated protestations in the matter of a democrat voting for a republican nominee. The Courier-Journal and the Courier-Journal alone is responsible for Gov. Beckham's defeat and the election of Senator Bradley, and that paper has no more standing in the democratic party than the miserable creatures that it seduced from the paths of party virtue. Senator McNutt is eminently deserving of the support of the Courier-Journal and it is ingratitude of the basest sort to withhold it.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL prints pictures of distilleries every Sunday under the heading of "Some Plants that State Wide Prohibition Would Strike from the Tax Lists." As there is absolutely no good reason for the existence of such plants, all we have to say is "let 'em strike."

JULIA WARD HOWE, who is celebrating her 90th birthday, says: "The deeper I drink of the cup of life, the sweeter it grows—the sugar is all at the bottom." Most of us do not find it so. Youth is the time to enjoy life as well as to serve the Lord.

CHILD stealing for a ransom got a very black eye when Boyle was given a life sentence and his so-called wife one of 20 years for kidnaping Willie Whittle. The criminal class will observe with horror that such crimes are neither a safe nor an easy way of raising money.

BOSTON women are discussing the question whether beauty and brains go together. From all we have seen of them we should say that if they do there are no brainy women in the hub of the Universe.

A PASSENGER on a train in New York State placed his baggage on a seat and went into the next car. When he returned he found the seat occupied by two men, who refused to give it up. A row ensued and also a suit at law. After passing through several minor courts the case reached the court of appeals, which decided that a man does not deserve a seat in a railway coach by placing his baggage in it; a fact that travelers may do well to remember.

CAPTAIN HAINS' blasphemous attorney told the jury that "it was an act of God that directed Captain Hains' hand when he took the life of the man who ruined his home." But they didn't take any stock in that sort of rot, and convicted him of manslaughter. A Kentucky jury might have agreed with him, but no such foolish sentiment animates the heart of the average New Yorker.

THAT women club life is not conducive to the visits of the stork is shown that in three clubs in Chicago, with a total membership of 885, there were but three births in the past year. Teddy ought to stop killing wild animals and return at once to lecture these women on the sins of race suicide.

THE auditor announces that the dog tax of last year amounted to $149,907.14, of which $106,164.75 was paid to the school fund after paying the owners $43,742.20 for sheep killed by dogs. This is making the worthless curs help some to cover the loss they create.

A NEW YORK woman, a young lady $58,000, Rothwell, was at the railroad which she was her legs. They must have been sold as an exhibit and were very beautiful.

A law against cruel and inhuman treatment surely does not prevail in or Abdhi Hamid would not have sentenced to live with 21 wives.

175 Somerset Journal, 1856, up the Courier-Journal and Watterson about right. Editor Watterson about any way.

PRESTON KING.

Reg. No. 999, A. S. H. R.

Beautiful bay saddle stallion, 15.2 hands, foaled June, 1895. His sire was the greatest stallion in the country, and his dam was the greatest mare in the country. He is a high action and the speed indicated by these blood lines. He has the long, thin neck, strong, short back, delicate legs, well set, heavy tail, flat bone, clean look, and good action. Very so like the action of the famous stallion, "The Black Hawk." We feel that Preston King's speed, action and individuality must add to the merit of our Kentucky horses and we ask for him a liberal patronage. This rich, dark bay is a true Kentucky stallion, a great sire and style. His present blood lines come to him through selected stock. Preston King, his sire, was the greatest show horse of his day, winning at all the fair and horse shows, taking the ribbons at 80, 90, 100, 110, 120, 130, 140, 150, 160, 170, 180, 190, 200, 210, 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, 290, 300, 310, 320, 330, 340, 350, 360, 370, 380, 390, 400, 410, 420, 430, 440, 450,
